

The Benefits of a Lambda Beta Chapter at your institution

Lambda Beta is the National Honor Society for the Profession of Respiratory Care. The organization was formed in 1986 to promote, recognize and honor scholarship and scholarly achievement in the profession of respiratory care. The Lambda Beta Society currently has 150 chapters and over 8,000 members established at respiratory care programs across the United States.

In a recent survey taken by respiratory care educators, they shared the benefits of having a local Lambda Beta chapter at their institution. If your school does not currently have a chapter, you should consider starting one. Below are notable perks:

- A chapter creates a sense of pride and accomplishment among students
- Students enjoy being recognized for their hard work and are presented with scholarships, certificates and cords
- A chapter promotes high scholastic and academic achievement and recognition for service, character of students and faculty members within the field of respiratory care
- Graduates are recognized and awarded by Lambda Beta at their dedication ceremony
- Creates distinction from other students and is helpful in finding a career following graduation

For more information or questions about starting a chapter, please email our Executive Secretary, Debbie Farrow, at debbie.farrow@nbc.org. More information about Lambda Beta can be found online at lambdabeta.org.
